MORE NIGHT RIDERS

Force Man to Help Destroy His Own Bed of Plants—Blood Hounds go to the Place.

Princeton, Ky., May 27.—Saturday night, between the hours of 12 and 1 o'clock, about thirty-five masked men went to the home of Noble Robinson, of near Cobb, and after firing several volleys, ordered him to come out of his house. The order was obeyed and it is said Mr. Robinson was forced to go with the men to his tobacco bed and participate in its destruction. He was given a hoe and told him to get busy, which it is claimed he did.

All the men are said to have been masked, and as a result, Mr. Robinson was unable to recognize any of them.

Several nights ago the tobacco beds of Mr. Lee Pollard, and his tenant were destroyed by night riders, and it is thought that the same men who destroyed Mr. Pollard's plant beds are the ones who visited Mr. Robinson.

The Hopkinsville Kentuckian says: Two plant beds on the farm of J. A. Miles at Bennettstown were robbed, the thief pulling all the plants large enough for transplanting.

The canvas, which was rolled up and lying on a stump, was also carried away. From the tracts left, there were only one or two of the thieves. The two beds contained about two hundred square yards and the robbery was not discovered until next morning, when negroes went to the bed to get plants to set out Mr. Miles' crop. Mr. Miles has, from the first, been a member of the farmers association.

He telephoned to this city to deputy marshal, T. J. Cundiff and his assistant, T. B. Pedigo, went to the scene with bloodhounds, with which an attempt was made to catch the thief.

On account of the drizzling rain, though, the dogs were unable to take the trail.

On the same night Oscar Pendleton, who lives on the farm adjoining Mr. Miles, was similarly visited and suffered even to a greater extent. He lost the plants from 400 yards of beds.

Other farmers in the same section are reported to have had plants stolen.

Infant Dies.

Wisler, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Hodges, of the Lily Dale vicinity, died last Wednesday, May 30th, 1907, of cholera infantum. He was sick only a couple of days and was not thought to be seriously ill, until a few hours before his death. He was born March 19th, 1906 and was therefore one year two months and ten days old. The interment took place Thursday at Chapel Hill. Rev. W. T. Oakley officiating.

Graded Schools For Providence.

The graded school proposition was voted on in Providence Tuesday and carried by the decisive vote of 302 to 41, and this thriving little city will soon have a splendid graded school.

About the only opposition to the school was caused by the location of the building, the majority favoring the old academy site while some favored the Givens residence.—Providence Enterprise.

CEMETERY ASSOCIATION

Pushing Work of Beautifying Lots and Lot Owners Responding Promptly With Financial Aid.

The committee of the Marion Cemetery Association, composed of the following members, H. K. Woods chairman, H. V. Stone, T. H. Cochran, J. F. Dodge, Mrs. G. M. Crider, treasurer; Miss Nelle Walker, secretary, would respectfully report as follows:

We have sold lots to the following persons: John Moore, Dr. T. A. Frazer, Dr. F. W. Nunn, Ed Cook, Walter Blackburn, Hughey Hurley, Wm. Copher, R. E. Flanary, Phil Deboe, Dr. Dixon, T. J. Yandell, Tom Rankin, H. K. Woods.

Our option to purchase the cemetery will close the 18th, inst., and we are very anxious to make a sale of seven more lots at a reduced price of $15 per lot, in order to make this purchase. There are something near 200 good lots yet unsold.

The following have paid in their $3 for the year ending June 1, 1908: Henry Stone, Mrs. Carliss, W. C. Carnahan, Lee Vick, R. I. Nunn, R. F. Dorr, A. H. McNeely, H. A. Hodge, Dr. J. H. Clark, G. M. Crider, A. Dewey, T. A. Harpenden, Nelle Walker, Tom Hearin, J. P. Pierce, Mrs. J. B. Baker, A. J. Bennett, W. G. Conditt, E. T. Franks, Mrs. J. O. Brown, J. E. Dean, R. F. Haynes, C. C. Taylor, Gus Taylor, W. R. Cruce, Mrs. Fannie Walker, Jno. A. Clark, R. H. Kemp, T. H. Cochran, W. B. Yandell, O. H. Paris, C. E. Weldon, Mrs. L. A. Weldon.

The Marion Cemetery Association is pushing the work undertaken by it, in the way of collecting money from lot owners and also the sale of lots. It wishes to keep before the public this sale of twenty lots at $15 each and this fund to be used in purchasing the cemetery from J. B. Kevil and making it public property. Only a few days of the option remain and this sum must be raised in this time. The regular price of $20 will be put on lots after this purchase.

We appreciate the hearty response we are meeting in our call upon the lot owners for the $3 for work this year. We have employed John Brantley, at $25 per month, to do this work. He is taking the lots in rotation as pay comes in and will care for only those paying the $3. Then the walks and drives are to be cleaned of the grass. Some may wonder what work there is that will keep a man employed for seven months. Yet, if they will only stop and consider the condition of the cemetery they will soon be convinced there is a great deal to be done and that it will keep a man busy all the season to do this.

There are something near 200 saline lots still unsold and we feel that this purchase price of $300 for this must be met. We still ask help of those who have no lots there to buy during the next fifteen days. After this purchase is made then the money realized from sale of lots will be turned into the cemetery funds, and used to keep the place in order. There is no graft in this and no one need fear that his money will be misappropriated. Do not stand back and criticize, but come and help us out in this work.

JUDGE J. FLEM GORDON

Will Probably Resign As Circuit Judge of The Hopkins Judicial District, So it is Reported.

It is currently reported that Judge J. Fleming Gordon has decided to accept the position as president of a big trust company just organized at Paducah and that he will tender his resignation as circuit judge of this judicial district to take effect July 1st, says the Hustler.

While the Hustler has held no direct communication with Judge Gordon, the information seems to be thoroughly reliable.

The matter has been under consideration by him for some time and while he was at Paducah Friday it is said the final arrangements were made. It will be with regret that the people of Madisonville will see Judge Gordon leave the city. He was born and reared here. As presiding judge of our circuit court he has acted with great courage and shown rare judicial discrimination.

Governor Beckham will have the appointment of a successor until the November election, when an election will be held for the unexpired term. —Henderson Gleaner.

Whole Train Load of Canned Tomatoes.

How would you like to buy a train load of canned tomatoes? Such a sale was made in Cairo yesterday, when Alf T. E. Haynes, the local broker for the J. A. Graves Canning Company, of Dyersburg, Ky., sold to the wholesale firm of Seudder-Galz-Wearne company of Cairo, the entire 1907 output of canned tomatoes from the above canning company, amounting to 20,000 cases or 40 car loads. This is the largest block of canned tomatoes ever handled by any buyer or broker of this city and goes to show the tremendous growth of the jobbing business of Cairo.—The Evening Citizen.

TAYLOR-PICKENS

Beautiful Ceremony at the Home of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Pickens Wednesday Afternoon.

H. A. Haynes, the treasurer for Marion Graded School district, has paid off the last $2,000 bond of the old issue which was sold to build the main building. This is indeed a fine showing for the board and leaves the district free of the debt except the new bonds of $5,000, which were sold two years ago to build the auditorium and new chapel.

When the high character of the school maintained here is considered, coupled with the fact that the building is now heated by a new steam radiator system and has new opera chairs in the auditorium, is really remarkable that the sinking fund has been sufficient to retire the old bonds so quickly. Great credit is due the school board and each citizen of the district should "hold up their hand" in all matters touching this the greatest of Marion's enterprises.

The groom is the junior member of the popular drug firm of Haynes & Taylor and is the youngest son of Mrs. Ellen Taylor. He is a young man of fine character and possesses splendid business qualities.

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor left on the four o'clock train for Mayfield, Ky., and Charleston, Mo., where they will visit his sisters, Mesdames C. M. Davis and J. D. Hardwick. They will return and be at home to their friends at the Freeman residence, where they will have rooms, after June 16.

Prof. Kee Goes to Grenada.

The friends of Prof. Victor G. Kee will learn with pleasure, of his election to be principal of the Grenada, Miss., city school, at the handsome salary of $1400.00 per annum. Grenada is a city of 6000 and has a fine school building. Prof. Kee's assistant is paid $900.00 per annum, and all the teachers, $50.00 per month. Grenada is near where he taught before coming to Marion, and his selection is in recognition of his success in former schools where he has taught, including Marion.

LASHED TO A COW

Oakland City Lad Dragged Through Lumber Yard--Skull Is Fractured.

Oakland City, Ind., May 30.—Bennie Boone, aged nine years, son of William Boone, a well known resident, is lying at the point of death as the result of injuries sustained in an accident here.

The lad was driving a cow to pasture when he decided to tie the rope around his body. He had not been lashed to the cow in this manner long before she became frightened and began to run through Molly Crawford's lumber yard.

The boy was thrown violently against a post and lumber stack and his head was badly bruised and his scalp torn away. A piece of the scalp as large as the hand was torn from his head and he was rendered unconscious. Had the rope not been broken in two it is likely the boy would have been killed outright.

Immediately after the accident young Boone was taken to his home and Dr. R. S. Mason was summoned to dress his injuries. There were no broken bones as far as he could discover, except a bad fracture of the skull.

The boy has not gained consciousness since the accident and practically all hope of his recovery has been abandoned.

Recovered After Three Years.

Paducah, Ky., May 29.—An im-collie valued at $3,000 was stolen at Paducah three years ago from the Gentry Bros.' Dog and Pony Show. The proprietors sent a negro ahead nine months ago to locate the dog if possible. He spotted a puppy and Paducah detectives located the dog on a farm near Paducah. She had been stolen by a prominent Paducahian who had given her to the farmer, a relative. The dog is of the finest Scottish breed and was returned to the show men at Mayfield. A circus hand assisted in the theft for ten cents. No prosecution will follow.

A Happy Mother

White's Cream Vermifuge will clean out these worms in a mild pleasant way. Once tried always used. Give it a trial. Price 25c. Sold by J. H. Orme.

Little Girl Drowns.

Uniontown, Ky., May 29.—Kimble Maud Miller, the four-year-old daughter of David Miller, fell in a cistern and was drowned. The little girl and her brother had been playing, fishing in a puddle with a small pole and bent pin for a hook, but later the little girl ventured to fish in the cistern and fell in.

Every Man His Own Doctor.

The average man cannot afford to employ a physician for every slight ailment or injury that may occur in his family, nor can he afford to neglect them, as so slight an injury as the scratch of a pin has been known to cause the loss of a limb. Hence every man must from necessity be his own doctor for this class of ailments.

Success depends upon prompt treatment, which can only be had when suitable medicines are kept at hand. Chamberlain's Remedies have been in the market for many years and enjoy a good reputation.

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for bowel complaints, Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough.

Chamberlain's Pain Balm (an anti-septic liniment) for cuts, bruises, burns, sprains, swellings, lame back and rheumatic pain.

Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets for constipation, biliousness and stomach troubles.

Chamberlain's Salve for diseases of the skin.

One bottle of each of these five preparations costs but $1.25. For sale by J. H. Orme, the leading druggist in western Kentucky. Haynes & Taylor the enterprising druggist, of Marion.

The Southern Baptist Convention.

The selection, election and collection of the Ohio River Association enabled me to attend this great convention in Richmond, Va., May 16.

What a privilege, combining so many attractive features. It is worth the trip to Richmond to see its historic monuments. Then you are permitted to see the Jamestown Exposition, the attractions of the sea and greatest of all to see and hear the great men of the South and receive strength from "the touch of the hem of their garments."

Greatest meeting in its history the officers declare and the reports show this to be the greatest convention on its history of sixty-two years. It is a democratic body composed of messengers from the churches of the South, Virginia, Maryland, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Mississippi, Louisiana, Arkansas, Missouri, Florida, Alabama, Tennessee, Kentucky, Texas and Oklahoma, representing 200,794 churches with a membership of 1,952,056. The contributions to missions by these churches last year amounted to $1,002,935 and to all purposes $1,108,934. The Foreign Board received last year $403,811, a gain of twenty-five per cent, over last year, 2239 baptisms on the foreign field last year. The Home Board received during the year $231,893, a gain of thirty-one per cent, over last year. Its missionaries baptized 18,798 and received into the churches 33,005. The Sunday School Board reports its most prosperous year. It contributed out of its income $41,734 to Home and Foreign Missions. The Woman's Missionary Union raised $125,000 for Home and Foreign Missions. The committee on education report a property value of $9,708,089 with 1237 instructors and 205,298 students attending. "Behold what God hath wrought." It is an encouraging outlook. The future is as bright as the promises of God. The evangelistic movement launched a year ago has been wonderfully blessed of God in winning souls and enlisting workers.

The Laymen's Missionary Movement inaugurated this year for the purpose of a more complete offering of an adequate proportion of time and money for the evangelization of the world gives promise of a mighty revolution in the matter of "giving" throughout the South. Even our own Ohio River Association has caught the spirit of missions and more than doubled its contributions last year. May we not do even more this year? Our increased prosperity brings increased obligations.

"What shall I render unto the Lord for all his benefits unto me?"

Do not Neglect The Children.

It is as good for children as it is for grown-up people, and I recommend it. It is fine for La Grippe." Sold by J. H. Orme.

USE CRIME TO AID SCIENCE

France Would Reprieve Slayers for Use in Laboratories to Test Inoculation.

Paris, France, May 27.—Pasteur's famous remarks, made twenty years ago, when experimenting with the propylactic serum os rabies upon animals, that if he were king, emperor, or president of the republic he would reprieve prisoners condemned to death on condition that they underwent inoculation tests has been revived by a Parisian doctor, who sees in the idea the solution of the problem of what to do with murderers.

Cured of Bright's Disease.

Geo. A. Sherman, Lisbon Red Mills, Lawrence Co., N. Y., writes: "I had kidney disease for many years and had been treated by physicians for twelve years; had taken a well known kidney medicine and other remedies that were recommended but got no relief until I began using Foley's Kidney Cure. The first half bottle relieved me and four bottles have cured me of this terrible disease. Before I began taking Foley's Kidney Cure I had to make water about every fifteen minutes, day and night, and passed a brick-dust substance, and sometimes a slimy substance. I believe I would have died if I had not taken Foley's Kidney Cure. Sold by J. H. Orme.

LITTLE POCKET PHYSICIAN.

Hyomei is Guaranteed by Haynes & Taylor to Cure Catarrh.

Thousands who have been cured by Hyomei call the inhaler that comes with every outfit the "Little Pocket Physician," as it is so small that it can be carried in the pocket or purse.

There is really no excuse whatever for anyone having catarrh now that Hyomei is so readily obtainable. If you have any doubt about its value, Haynes & Taylor will let you have a complete outfit, with the understanding that unless it cures catarrh it will not cost you a cent.

The complete Hyomei outfit consists of the "Little Pocket Physician" and a bottle of Hyomei and costs only $1.00, making it the most economical as well as the only guaranteed treatment for the cure of catarrh. Remember that Hyomei cures catarrh without stomach dosing applying the medication and healing where the disease germs are present.

A Real Wonderland.

South Dakota, with its rich silver mines, bonanza farms, wide ranges and strange natural formations, is a veritable wonderland. At Mount City, in the home of Mrs. E. D. Clapp, a wonderful case of healing has lately occurred. Her son seemed near death with lung and throat trouble. "Exhausting coughing spells occurred every five minutes," writes Mrs. Clapp, "when I began giving Dr. King's New Discovery, the great medicine, that saved his life and completely cured him. 'Guaranteed for coughs and colds, throat and lung troubles, by J. H. Orme, druggist. 50c and $1.00 Trial bottle free.'

The way to keep sweet and pleasant, and to make the other fellow do so, too, is to speak in a low voice. You cannot speak low and lose your temper, and if you keep your temper you will win in the case. Self-control must win respect, and, best of all, self-respect. It may not be easy, but what is there that is worth attaining that comes easy. All good things come hard.

There is no case of indigestion, no matter how obstinate, that will not be speedily relieved by the use of Kodol. Kodol contains the same juices found in a healthy stomach. Conforms to the Pure Food Drugs Law. Sold by J. H. Orme.

Yours Truly,
W. L. VENNER, Agent.

Love is Ever Young.

Nothing preserves the physical charm and comeliness of both sexes so well as the mutual admiration of one another. Nature arranged this subtle law.

It is a great pity so many women with lovely minds and sweet hearts should allow themselves to run to seed so far as beauty culture is concerned. Their influence on the world is thus largely lost.

Many spinsters believe themselves to be absolutely superannuated at thirty. To accept fate and decide that "all the tomorrows shall be as today," and that no knight will ride along to rescue a lady, although a lady is thirty-five, from her solitariness—is to embrace a gospel of wrinkles, gloom and gray hairs.

The woman who has had a real love story in her life, even though it ended in tragedy, though her romantic memories retains her youth far beyond that of her sister whom a cruel fate has condemned to a blank page in the book of love. Imagination and romance are the twin souls which keep men and women young, while materialism and unspiritual natures produce an early and ugly middle age.

The main thing is for a woman to have the courage of her convictions. Say boldly, "Some women of thirty-five choose to regard themselves as withered might-beens. Strike out a different line and assert your right to be attractive, charming and young."

There is no excuse for falling a victim to that worn-out, old tyranny of tradition that a woman of thirty-five is past her zenith. The women who have influenced history through their beauty, wit and power have been mostly over forty.

Attractiveness is an art. It does not grow wild, and really "charming girls" are rare. Charming women are extremely common. Analyze the average girl, and you will find her a somewhat crude, hoydenish product. See her ten years later and the improvement sometimes seems little short of a miracle.

A Thousand Dollar's Worth of Good.

I have been afflicted with kidney and bladder trouble for years, passing gravel or stones with excruciating pain, says A. H. Thurnes, a well known coal operator of Buffalo, O. "I got no relief from medicine until I began taking Foley's Kidney Cure, then the result was surprising. A few doses started the brick-dust-like substance and now I have no pain across my kidneys and I feel like a new man. It has done me $1000 worth of good." Foley's Kidney Cure will cure every form of kidney or bladder disease. Sold by J. H. Orme.

Railroad Men Wanted.

The demand for telegraph operators was never as great as right now. The Bowling Green Business University has turned out more operators than any other school South of the Ohio river, and still the demand upon it is as great as ever. Its operators are wanted by twenty-three railroads. This is conclusive evidence that the training it gives is satisfactory. Young men desiring information concerning telegraphy positions should write to the Business University at Bowling Green, Ky. Bookkeepers and stenographers are in equally as great demand.

DID HIS BEST FOR HIS CHUM

But Kentucky Lawyer Could Not Secure
Acquittal for His Friend in Arizona,
Who was Charged With Murder.

Hopkinsville, Ky., May 30.—Commonwealth's Attorney Denny P. Smith, who went to Prescott, Ariz., several days ago for the purpose of defending his friend and former schoolmate, T. G. Roach, who was in prison there on a charge of murder, has returned.

Mr. Smith was not successful in getting Mr. Roach off entirely, owing to the mass of circumstantial evidence. The verdict of the jury was murder in the second degree, but with a recommendation for clemency under which it is thought the sentence fixed will be very light.

The crime for which Mr. Roach was convicted was committed in the town of Crown King, Ariz., on Nov. 9, 1906. Mr. Roach, who has been told to drink whisky by the doctors, who has treated him for consumption, from which he suffered constantly, had drunk to excess and was in a very ugly humor and had paraded the streets armed with a Winchester rifle and threatened to kill some one before morning.

While two miners, one of whom had had a difficulty with Roach earlier in the night, were standing together in a saloon, a rifle report sounded, and bullet crashed thru the window and killed the man with whom Roach's erstwhile enemy was talking. This caused suspicion to be directed his way, and when "trailers," who possessed the cunning of an Indian, in following the tracks left by persons, claimed to have tracked the assassin to Roach's door six miles away, the case seemed conclusive, and he was arrested and thrown in jail.

Mr. Roach's finances had been exhausted by his quest of health, and he had not sufficient money to employ an attorney, and so he wrote to Mr. Smith, and the latter placed his Commonwealth duties in other hands and went to his old friend's aid and made such a gallant fight in his behalf that, although the odds were heavily against him, and every one thought verdict of death would be rendered, he succeeded in getting him off with a light sentence. Mr. Smith and Mr. Roach were students together at Kentucky State College and both taught school at Cadiz, in Trigg county. Mr. Roach taking the school after Mr. Smith had resigned from the principalship.

The Heart or the Kidneys Troubles of the Stomach, Heart or Kidneys, are merely symptoms of a deeper ailment. Don't make the common error of treating symptoms only. Symptom treatment is treating the result of your ailment, and not the cause. Weak Stomach nerves—the inside nerves—means Stomach weakness, always. And the Heart, and Kidneys as well, have their controlling or inside nerves. Weaken these nerves, and you inevitably have weak vital organs. Here is where Dr. Shoop's Restorative has made its fame. No other remedy even claims to treat the "inside nerves." Also for bloating, biliousness, bad breath or complexion, use Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Write me to-day for samples and free Book. POINTS OF DIFFERENCE.

Public and Private Methods Contrasted—Organization vs. Aggregation.

One controlling economic reason for opposing public ownership is that every individual in society prospers just in proportion as industry gets the best care in human capability. On the other hand, government control and direction never get and in the nature of things never can get all there is or the best there is in human capability.

Now the government may compete with private enterprise in getting capable men, but it has not thus far shown anything of the capacity of a private enterprise to assign the right man always to the right place. The agency which in private enterprise succeeds so generally in eventually landing in the right place the right man is not simply good intention or mere intelligence, but the intelligence and intention which constantly study the enterprise in hand, which make it the one affair in life, constantly thought of and planned for—an intelligence and intention, too, which are themselves as nearly as possible permanent. That kind of seeking out and watchfulness few government departments possess. The men in charge of government departments may be intelligent and well intentioned, but they are in today and out tomorrow. They never, as a matter of fact, get their hands and their minds fully into the work.

Now will civil service change this. Civil service examinations may secure capable men, but no civil service examination can assign the right man to the right place, can pick out of the thousand capable men just the kind of capability that is fitted to this place and just the kind that is fitted to that. Indeed, between government control and private control the difference in that respect is almost the exact difference between what we call true organization and what is the merest aggregation, for in private enterprise each man has come by a process of attrition to the place he is best fitted to fill, while in government employment each man is dropped into his place irrespective of special fitness and under civil service is riveted there.—Hon. Peter S. Grosscup in American Magazine.

LITTLE INDIVIDUALISM THERE.

Why Public Ownership Is Popular In European Countries.

In Europe governments are largely paternal because of the lack of individualism. The very helplessness of the people fosters and necessitates paternalism. That is why national and municipal governments operate public utilities. Under a monarchy, for that reason, the tendency of the people is naturally toward socialism.

The phenomenal growth and prosperity of the United States have been attained without either paternalism or socialism. Compare the condition of the people here, their better living, their comfort and happiness, with the condition of the people of the nations of Europe, and there is only one conclusion—that is that for us individualism is the state policy, and we do not have to borrow the institutions of foreign nations created by a need from which we are free. It is just because of our individualism that socialistic institutions and co-operative schemes never prosper here.—Newark (N. J.) Advertiser.

Officials Already Overloaded.

A third general objection to government agency rests on the principle of the division of labor. Every additional function undertaken by the government is a fresh occupation imposed on a body already overcharged with duties. A natural consequence is that most things are ill done, much not done at all, because the government is not able to do it without delays which are fatal to its purpose; that the more troublesome and less showy of the functions undertaken are postponed and neglected, and an excuse is always ready for the neglect, while the heads of the administration have their minds so fully taken up with official detail, in however perfunctory a manner superintended, that they have no time or thought to spare for the great interests of the state and the preparation of enlarged measures of sound improvement.—John Stuart Mill.

A Trade Union Inconsistency.

One of the anomalies of trades unionism is the demand for "closed shops" and the advocacy of municipal ownership when it is inevitable that every industry transferred from private to public ownership will become an "open shop." In public employment all conditions and wages of labor must be determined by laws and ordinances. No law excluding nonunion men from public employment can stand the test of its constitutionality.—Public Policy.

Goyer—Why, in politics they skin people by grafting.—Chicago Daily News.

Unwise Under Present Conditions.

Until we remove the political influence that tends toward corruption and extravagance I believe that municipal ownership would be unwise.—Professor Sedgwick.

Inability of City Government.

I am opposed to municipal ownership because our city governments have not shown as yet any capacity for properly conducting their business.—Major Henry L. Higginson.

BESSEMER STEEL.

Just What It Is and What It Has Made Possible.

Most persons are unaware of the revolution created in industrial circles by the introduction of the bessemer process of making steel. This process belongs in the same category with the invention of the printing press and the introduction of the steam engine in its relation to human progress.

Steel is a compound of iron with a small percentage of carbon, which is rendered malleable by being cast while in a state of fusion. Cast iron is iron with a much larger percentage of carbon and other impurities. Bessemer's process converts cast iron into steel by blowing a blast of cold air through melted cast iron. The oxygen of the air burns out the carbon, silicon and other unwelcome elements until the right proportion is reached, and then the steel is cast.

The effect of the process was at once to cheapen steel and to increase its use enormously. In 1855, when Bessemer took out his first patent, steel sold in England for five times its present price.

Sir Henry Bessemer shared the common lot of inventors in encountering incredulity when his discovery was first announced, but he was more fortunate than most inventors. He lived to enjoy the rewards of fame and fortune and to witness the worldwide adoption of his process.

The first bessemer steel rail ever laid down was at Derby, England, in 1857. It was placed at a point where it had been necessary to renew the iron rails once in three months because of incessant wear. It was not taken up for sixteen years, during which time 1,250,000 trains passed over it.

It is to the bessemer process that we owe the rapid development of our great railway systems. The giant locomotives that draw long trains across the continent and the steel rails upon which they run are due to its discovery. It is estimated that the bessemer process has reduced the cost of land transportation two-thirds, and it has also greatly cheapened transportation by water. It has opened great tracts of fertile country which could not have been reached otherwise and has given the farmer good markets. In the development of electric railways it is all the time bringing together scattered villages and giving new opportunities for intercourse.

We owe to Sir Henry Bessemer the improvements in our modern steamships, the strength and lightness of the bridges which cross our rivers, countless modern forms of machinery and their cheapened products and the skyscrapers, which could not have been built save by the use of steel.—New York Herald.

The Island of Jersey.

There was a time when a reverend bishop always walked from France to Jersey on a plank. This sounds somewhat like a modern Blondin performance, and one could imagine the crowd that would assemble to witness such a feat. In reality it was an event of common occurrence during the sixth century. Existing documents relative to the monastery of Mont St. Michel, in Normandy, reveal the fact that the island was separated from the French district of Coutances by a narrow stream only and that the stream was bridged by a single plank. The inhabitants of Jersey were compelled to keep this plank in good repair, for it was used by the bishop of the diocese when he made his periodical visits to that portion of his flock, and the worthy prelate desired to make the crossing in safety. In the year 709 and again in the year 824 there were seismical disturbances, called by ancient writers "cataclysms," which submerged towns and forests on the French coast, thus widening the stretch of water and making the separation of Jersey more complete.—London Standard.

The Family Honor.

"Bobby," asked the teacher of the class in arithmetic, addressing the question to one of the younger pupils, "how many pints are there in a gallon?" "I've forgot it again, ma'am," said Bobby, who found it hard to commit to memory the tables of weights and measures.

Thinking that perhaps by turning from the abstract to the concrete she might succeed better in stimulating his power of recollection, the teacher tried another tack.

"Bobby," she said, "your father is a milkman, isn't he?"

"Yes, ma'am."

"Well, now, think as hard as you can. He sometimes sells a gallon can full of milk, doesn't he? Just so. Well, when he does, how many pints of milk are there in that gallon can?"

"It's all milk, ma'am!" indignantly exclaimed Bobby.—Youth's Companion.

Put Into a Book.

Thomas Mitton was Dickens' solicitor as well as his schoolfellow and used to say that he was the only one of all of "Charlie's" friends whom the novelist had never "put into a book." Mitton's hearers smiled inwardly, because they recognized obvious pieces of Mitton in several of the novels, the most conspicuous fragments being in Wemmick ("Great Expectations") and Tappertit ("Barnaby Rudge"). Not much in common, it may be said, between these two eccentrics. Nevertheless, life being more various and more inconsistent than fiction, there he was visibly. Dickens was greatly and long attached to him, and it was in a letter to the lawyer that he described most admirably the frightful railway accident from which he escaped physically unharmed, but gravely shaken in nerve.—London Chronicle.

GOT OUT AN "EXTRA"

CIRCULATION OF THE NEWS A CENTURY AGO.

Old "Broadside" Recently Found in Boston Compares Oddly with the Practical Journalism of the Present Day.

An interesting example of the method of putting important news before the public a century ago was found in an old news-sheet, or "broadside" recently turned up in a second-hand book dealer's shop in Boston.

Any printer, whether he issued a newspaper or not, got out broadsides in those days, whenever he thought an extraordinary piece of news justified him in anticipating a profit. The broadside was a sort of handbill, printed on one side only, and generally about 8 inches wide by 15 long. This was sold in the streets.

The subject of the broadside mentioned above was a hurricane which swept the Massachusetts coast a few days prior to Oct. 15, 1804, the date on which the broadside was issued. The heading is "Violent Storm," under a black cut of the North church with its steeple toppling, above which is a row of coffins. The rules are turned, giving a mourning effect. The account of the storm begins as follows:

"On Tuesday last a violent storm commenced here, and raged until Wednesday morning with unprecedented fury and destruction.

"The damage which has been sustained by this tremendous hurricane is very great and extensive. The following particulars are subjoined, viz: The steeple of the North church was blown down and several other churches damaged. The brick wall of a house in West Boston blew over and killed a young woman by the name of Lydia Bennet and badly wounded two or three more.

"Many houses were unroofed and several new buildings were so much bent and twisted that they must be taken down—chimneys, trees, etc., without number blew down. One of the western stages in passing West Boston bridge was upset by the force of the wind and several of the passengers considerably hurt.

"About 35 vessels of different kinds were injured at the wharves and four entirely lost. Two men were drowned by a boat upsetting and likewise a lad by the sinking of a vessel. Chief of the small craft were destroyed.

"In short, it spread horror and devastation throughout the whole town."

The description states briefly the damage sustained in Charlestown, Salem, Marblehead, Plymouth, Cohasset and Quincy.

At Marblehead "33 vessels were driven ashore and some lost, and a number blown out of their harbor, their fate unknown."

"At Cape Ann dreadful destruction and waste—five vessels in one of which was a lady passenger, lost and four or five others driven to sea and it is supposed are lost with all their crews."

It is to be noted that exact information is sadly lacking in these maritime reports. This may be due in part to the fact that one-third the space of the broadside was needed for "A Poem on the Late Hurricane," in 14 verses. One was as follows:

On Tuesday last a storm did rise,
And thunder roaring in the skies,
The gale increased from noon till night,
And many people in affright.

Another described the loss of shipping thus:

It fatal proved to ships, that day,
That chance'd to be within our bay,
In vain they strived to reach the shore,
Alas! they sink to rise no more.

Dycusburg School Closes.

On the afternoon of May 31, the school at Dycusburg, with Mrs. Sue W. Barnes teacher, closed with an appropriate exercise. The decorations of the main school room, where the exercises were held, were of evergreen and roses. The program was well carried out by the pupils, some of whom had never previously appeared before an audience.

Only a short time was allowed from regular school work for drilling for the entertainment and the cheerful acquiescence of the pupils to the teacher's suggestions, made the afternoon a success. The thanks of the school are due to Rev. W. E. Charles, who conducted the devotional exercises and rendered a beautiful solo and to Mr. J. R. Glass, who delivered a most appropriate address. The "Diploma of Honor" was awarded to Miss Annie Leon Yancy who during the term was absent from the school room only in one recitation. The diploma was presented by Rev. W. E. Charles with thoughts happily expressed.

After the distribution of rewards to the pupils and a few comments by the teacher on the work accomplished during the term, "God be with you" was feelingly sung by all present. The sincerest thanks of Mrs. Barnes are tendered to the sweet young girls and helpful boys of the school and to the trustees and patrons for their co-operation. May the work begun in this school find its culmination not only in the coming years of life but in the limitless beyond.

Marion Silver Cornet Band.

The Marion Silver Cornet Band has erected a stand in the corner of the court house yard and will give an open air concert every Saturday evening. They have made exceeding progress in the short time they have been organized, and if you enjoy good music be in town every Saturday evening.

State Fair Notes.

Twenty-five thousand dollars is being offered by the State Board of Agriculture in premiums and purses for the Kentucky State Fair to be held at Louisville, Sept. 16-21. The State Fair offers to the breeder of all classes of live stock an excellent opportunity to bring his stock to the public's attention in a way that no other occasion offers. If he is hunting a purchaser, he will find at the Kentucky State Fair many persons in the market for just such stock as he may wish to show and sell. He, therefore, stands the chance of getting premiums as well as a better price for his stock.

The personnel of the State Board of Agriculture, Forestry and Immigration, which is directing the Kentucky State Fair movement, is a guarantee that the State Fair for 1907 will be one in every way in keeping with the progress of Kentucky along the lines of live stock, agricultural and horticultural development. Hubert Vreeland, the State Commissioner of Agriculture is Chairman, and his associates on the Board are Prof. M. A. Scovell, Director of the Experiment Station at Lexington; G. N. McGrew, Bayou; W. R. Moorman, Jr., Glendale; Guthrie M. Wilson, Bardstown; Lawrence Jones, Louisville; Desha Breckinridge, Lexington; William Adams, Cynthiana, and John C. T. Mayo, and he has established headquarters on the second floor of the Commercial Building, at the southeast corner of Fourth Avenue and Main street, in Louisville, where he will welcome all visitors interested in making the State Fair a success.

Negotiations are now on with all railroads entering Louisville, where the State Fair will be held Sept. 16-21, to announce very low rates with liberal extinctions as to time.

Taxing Bachelors.

Bachelors should not be taxed. The poor devil who has never tasted the sweetest of matrimony, who has never known what it is to have her waiting for him, who has never gathered them about his knee; and listened to them sing such sweet and tender melodies as "Everybody Works But Father," who has never been called upon to heal the injuries of the wounded doll, who has never risen in the night to furnish a remedy for the aching interior of the lilliputian anatomy, who has never had his collar and shirt front mussed by the soiled hands of loving progeny—this chap ought not to be taxed. In loneliness, he is every day expiating his failure. In solitude, he is his own worst enemy. In all that life holds, he is an outlaw with a price upon his head. Pity the poor bachelor—don't tax him.—Gallatin News.

Summer Excursions.

Operating the steamers, Joe Fowler and John S. Hopkins, the summer excursion season will open on the Ohio river, between Evansville and Paducah, on June 1st and continue to September 1st.

You should take advantage of the extra low rates now in effect and enjoy the most pleasant trip offered on inland waters. Boats duly furnished and have all appointments. Orchestra on board.

Every boy needs a place of his very own to keep his belongings, and should be allowed to exercise his own ideas in arranging and caring for them. He not only needs this room, but he wants it; he may not realize just what he wants, but that want is there. If possible give the boy a whole room to himself; it will be more appreciated than if shared with another.

Any place where the boy can lodge is considered good enough for him; his mother worries because he is not neat and that he has a tendency to spend all his time any place but at home. The mother will plan to give the daughter a room and have it furnished to suit her fancy, but she feels satisfied that the boy would not appreciate a neat, pretty room, that is not his nature to do so. Lace, ribbons and cushions will not play the important part in the boys room that they do in the girl's; he, no doubt, will think them a nuisance and in the way; he will not want a tea table, but he will want a desk and a lounge, a book case and an easy chair; these things could tell, if they could talk, many a thrilling tale of what I'll do when I am a man."

The furniture should be substantial; there should be a wash stand and a towel rack; if furnished proper conveniences he will arrange everything to suit himself and he will pride himself upon keeping the room in order. The room will assist him in cultivating a taste for neatness, and it will help him in thinking home the best place to be found, and to respond to thoughtfulness and kindness.

Companionship is an excellent thing for children; they will be happier and will learn many things from observation. If a boy understands he must protect his timid little sister or friend he will try to be very gentle and kind. A rude child will try to follow the gentle ways of a little friend who is loved for her quiet sweetness; and the timid little maid will try to emulate the strength of a bright, lively comrade. It is well to have children entertain their little friends in their own home, as they will imitate vices as well as virtues; give the little guest a cordial welcome and closely observe their characters; and if they find those who have an objectionable side the mother will by tact see that her children do not closely associate with them.

Little boys should be very early taught to protect their little sisters and friends; they love responsibility and they should be allowed to pay car fare, and do many little acts of this nature; their services should be accepted gracefully always with the "thank you." Praise should always be ready on the mother's lips. Kindly guide, control and encourage the little ones; gently lead them on the pleasant road of courtesy, and the world will be lighter and better for these manly boys and womanly women.

Observe closely the character of your own children when they are in company with others; you will find an entirely new side to your child's character; if there is a domineering or obstinate spirit it will manifest itself. With parents or older people a child is more or less restrained, but with children he will live out his true nature.

The work of education must have first of all, for its foundation, the self-concentration of the mother. Every ray of intelligence, and every indication of character must be caught and studied. The training of a child is not accomplished by a flash of one inspired hour, but by the patient mother work of every day; however much we owe to others for help in our child training, if the heart and soul of the mother is not found in the work, the child heart can never be the same in its influence and power. We can not trust to chance or convenience to produce a masterpiece. It is a great undertaking to build a bridge to be entrusted with human life, but the responsibility is incomparably greater in framing and girding a character that must stand through the eternal ages.

That we ever chid the darlings
For their oft repeated call,

Or were vexed because they loitered
When the good night had been said,
Waited, calling from the stairway,
Ere they scampered off to bed:

"Good-night,
Love to you all, kiss to you all."

For now as I sit in the gloaming,
Held fast in memory's thrall,

My heart is with those dear ones,
And I hear that good night call,
I long for the group at the fireside,
The group at the stairway door;

My soul cries out to each loved one,
Here and on the other shore:

"Good-night,
Love to you all, kiss to you all."

NOTED EVANGELIST'S LIFE INSURANCE.

The name of the noted evangelist, the late Sam P. Jones of Cartersville, Ga., is familiar to every citizen of this country, multitudes of whom have listened to his eloquent presentation of gospel truth. Mr. Jones was always an ardent advocate of life insurance urging its advantages and benefits from the pulpit and in his personal intercourse with the people.

That Mr. Jones practiced what he preached is shown by the fact that he carried three policies in the Mutual Life Insurance Co. of New York. One policy was for $5,000 and the other two were continuous installment policies, which provided an income of $1,000 a year to Mrs. Jones during her remaining lifetime. Should she die within twenty years the payments will be continued until a total of $20,000 has been paid.

HE NEVER BLAMED THE BOOZE

He took a bottle up to bed,

Drank whisky hot each night,
Drank cocktails in the morning,

But never could get tight,
He shivered in the evening

And always had the blues,
Until he took a bowl or two----

But he never blamed the booze.

His joint were full of rheuma tiz,
His appetite was slack;

He had pains between his shoulders,
Chills ran down his back,

He suffered with insomnia,
At night he couldn't snooze.

He said it was the climate---
But he never blamed the booze.

His constitution was run down,
At least that's what he said;

His legs were swelled each morning,
And he often had a swell head,

He tackled beer, wine, whisky'

And if they didn't fuse,

He blamed to dyspepsia--

But he never blamed the booze.

Cumberland River Traffic.

The importance of traffic on the Cumberland river is evidenced by the announcement made by H. W. Buttorff, manufacturer and capitalist, of Nashville, to the effect that a river depot will be built at the north end of the wharf in that city. This will give Nashville's river front a commanding appearance, an effect that has been largely produced by the building of the Illinois Central and Southern Railway passenger depot and freight sheds. The purpose of the river depot is to enable shippers to deliver their consignments to the steamboat companies at any time, instead of having to wait until the boat comes to the wharf, as they now have to do.—Livingston Banner.

Badly Mixed Up.

Abraham Brown, of Winterton, N. Y., had a very remarkable experience; he says; Doctors got badly mixed up over me; one said heart disease; two called it kidney trouble; the fourth, blood poison, and the fifth, stomach and liver trouble; but none of them helped me; so my wife advised trying Electric Bitters, which are restoring me to perfect health. One bottle did me more good than all the five doctors prescribed." Guaranteed to cure blood poison, weakness and all stomach, liver and kidney complaints, by J. H. Orme, druggist, 50c.

Three things to govern—temper, tongue and conduct.
Three things to cultivate—courage, affection and gentleness.
Three things to command—thrift, industry and promptness.
Three things to despise—cruelty, arrogant and ingratitude.

No Corsets: No Squeezes for Lemons.

Des Moines, Ia., May 30.—The lemon, so long the target of the feteous, becomes the emblem of a newly organized society to be known as Crate No. 23, of the Illustrious Order of Lemons, which the young women students of Drake University who are promoting it declare it has a serious purpose in the social world. The society starts out with a membership of seventy-five. Each charter member is said to have made a solemn vow that corsets shall be tabooed, tight-fitting shoes discarded and that any man sufficiently presumptive as to squeeze a member's hand or essay a hug, will be presented with a lemon. The officers of the society are: The grand exalted lemon, grand lemonade, lemonpeel, lemonseed and lemon-squeeze. The leaders of the Lemon Society claim their organization will spread to include every university and college town in the United States.

Wild Man Gets in Bad.

Danville, Ky., May 29.—While playing wild man at a side show in the recent Center College Carnival, Isaac Patterson, a negro, came near remaining in irons all night. The negro had been employed by the students to appear as a wild man and in order to carry out the deception was clad in skins and was ornamented with two enormous tusks. A pair of hand-cuffs and a stout log chain added to the appearance of ferocity.

In the excitement, the key to the bracelets was misplaced and for half an hour the side show was the scene of considerable commotion. "No mo wild man fuhi me," said Patterson when the key way finally sound.

MESSRS. JENKINS AND CRIDER,

Marion, Ky.

DEAR SIRS:—Enclosed you will find $1.00. I would have sent it sooner but didn't want to.

Say, I am really glad that you fellows have gotten together, for it is a true saying that "in union there is strength," and it is a good thing for brethren to dwell in unity. My best wishes for both of you and the old paper. I don't care much about it but then I read everything in it when it comes.

I see that you still have cold weather. We don't have any of that all the year round.

I meet a great many Kentuckians here, and in fact meet people from every nation, kindred and tribe on earth.

Well I am just sending you the "mon" and best wishes.

Good Meetings at Tent.

A large audience assembled in the big gospel tent at Albany and B streets for the first of the Holiness meetings.

Rev. Ed. Ferguson, a former L. & N. conductor, preached a powerful sermon on "Ye Cannot Serve Two Masters." He is plain, forcible and eloquent. His services are in constant demand by the people whom he says are hungry for a full gospel as he preaches. A big aristocratic church in Atlantic City wanted him if he could only four days. Another at Trenton, N. J., and he is engaged for some of the biggest camp-meetings in the country. Not less than the preacher is the singer, Prof. Yates. He is alone in the country in his style of solo singing. He plays, sings and preaches at the same time. One cannot describe the effect he produces on an audience.

Services from day to day at 4 and 7:30 and at A. C. L. shops Thursday noon. At this meeting is by and for everybody, all are on equal footing.—Waycross, Ga., Journal.

Joy.

Now comes the time when Little Bill goes barefoot through the passes And tries at night to wash his feet By walking through the grasses!

But mother drops to William's game And makes his bottom tingle— For getting dirt upon the bed, She spansks him with her shingle!

Oh, happy days, now gone for aye! What would I give to wander Barefooted down the paths of old Where I was tanned out yonder!

I see that you still have cold weather. We don't have any of that all the year round.

I meet a great many Kentuckians here, and in fact meet people from every nation, kindred and tribe on earth.

Well I am just sending you the "mon" and best wishes.

R. B. DORR.

NOT JUST WHAT HE WANTED.

Shivering Man Unable to Appreciate Humor of Situation.

A well-known New Hampshire man was a guest one winter night at a hotel about ten miles from Boston, famous for its game dinners, and a favorite stopping place of the football players prior to the big games.

He was awakened long past midnight during a wild storm, by his window being blown in, and his bed drenched with sleet and rain.

Shivering from his icy shower bath

He Brought Him Ice Water.

he lost no time in jumping to the bell, which he rang again and again.

After an irritating wait of ten minutes, a sleepy porter appeared with a pitcher in his hand.

"Why in the deuce didn't you get here quicker?" demanded the irate guest, with chattering teeth.

"Why, boss, I was getting a pitcher of ice water. I couldn't think of anything else anybody would want in the middle of the night but that."

ODD STONES AND GRAVES.

Peculiarities Existing in Various Parts of the World.

There is a curious old gravestone in Prestbury churchyard which records the fact that one woman at least in this country died a bachelor, says London Tit-Bits. Her name was Sarah Pickford, and the stone gravely informs the reader she was there interred "August 17, Anno Dom. 1703, and died a Bachelor in the 48th year of her age."

No Chicago poet ever refers to a woman's eyes as being like the skies. Chicago's skies are too smoky.

Time will tell on a man—especially a high old time.

A nifty young lady named Byrd was embraced by a bear! "On my wyrd," Said the girl with a shrug, Breaking loose from his hug, "Your manners are simply abysmal!"

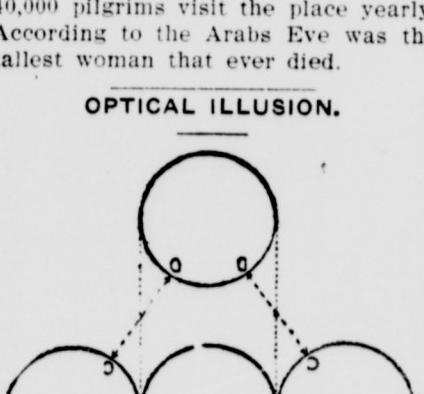

The difference between comic opera and grand opera is that grand opera is sometimes comic.

The poor young man who marries a woman with money has much to learn about happiness. The poor young man who is wise will marry a poor young woman and support her to the best of his ability. If he does a good job, she will appreciate him and love him the more. The rich wife, always independent, will remain independent to the end of the chapter, if she doesn't lose her money. The mere fact that the man makes a good home for her doesn't mean anything to her; she had that before she married him and she can have that any time without his help. As a protector and provider this puts him out of the game, so to speak. The young man who doesn't want to be out of the game should leave rich girls for rich men and let them fight it out among themselves.

The supposed grave of Eve can be seen at Jeddah in a cemetery situated outside the city walls. More than 40,000 pilgrims visit the place yearly. According to the Arabs Eve was the tallest woman that ever died.

OPTICAL ILLUSION.

Take three dimes and place them in a row, and try to move out the center one till the space C-D equals the space over all, as at A-B. There is a well-defined proportion in measurements that requires careful study, and with which the successful artisans are acquainted. The inexperienced eye becomes accustomed to certain forms, and when taken out of that channel is deceived.

Woman's Self-Sacrifice.

A Russian baroness, who wishes her identity to remain a secret, recently visited the hospital at Thourne and saw a poor Swiss peasant girl brought in, terribly burned by a petrol lamp explosion. The baroness was told that unless new skin was grafted on the girl the case was hopeless.

The young baroness insisted that they should take nearly a square foot of her own skin to heal the sufferer. The operation was performed and the Swiss girl will now recover.

Ca* Adopts Puppies.

G. M. J. Thomas, proprietor of a cafe in Decatur, Ala., has several young puppies which have been adopted by a tabby. The old cat seems to think as much of the puppies as though they were her own young. She sleeps in a box with them and plays with them as if they were her own.

Hogwallow News.
